30 Subjects and Vertebrate Animals

There will be no experimental studies carried out as part of this grant. In all cases where human and experimental data are used, it will be gathered under the auspices of other grants either through our collaborators or members of the Center. As the data is transferred to this study, all patient or subject identifiers will be removed. Thus, complete subject anonymity will be guaranteed. The present proposal is focused on software development. While validation of that software is very important, the collaborators on this grant have sufficient access to existing experimental and clinical data and facilities from other sources to test our modules.
